This rejection is in response to applicants' inquiry into the appropriateness of the advisory action of 10/13/06 wherein application 10/212,784 was cited. The examiner notes that this application was cited by applicants in their arguments of 9/13/06 and the examiner responded in the advisory of 10/13/06. The examiner brings to the attention of applicants that the parent of the '993 reference is 10/114,283. Application 10/212,784 is the application from which '993 issued. While the advisory action is seen as appropriate by the examiner (see MPEP 706.02 (V) and 706.02(f)), this new action is being sent to clarify any questions applicants may have.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yuki '993.

The rejections of 12/01/05 and 6/15/06 are repeated here by reference. Applicants have argued that the parent application of the '993 reference fails to disclose with sufficient specificity the monomers and amounts recited in the instant claims and that monomer d1 of Yuki is an amino containing monomer while monomer c of the instant claims is one having a hydroxyl, amide or carboxyl group.

Art Unit: 1714

Applicants' attention is drawn to the fact that the instant claims do not require a nitrogen containing monomer and read on copolymers comprising three carboxyl containing monomers. Table 1 of '993, which find support in Table 2 of the parent application, is replete with examples of copolymers meeting the limitations of the instant claims in both monomer type and amounts.

Therefore, the reference anticipates the rejected claims.
